INDIANA ROOM

20th Anniversary Year Special Exhibition

Sixty Terre Haute Artists

TAXI STAND by John Rogers Cox (1941)

November 4 - December 2, 1962

THE SHELDON SWOPE ART GALLERY
25 South 7th Street, Terre Haute, Indiana

A NOTE ON THE EXHIBITION

"Sixty Terre Haute Artists" is one of several special events arranged in connection with the observance of The Sheldon Swope Art Gallery's 20th Anniversary Year. Since the Gallery opened its doors in 1942 it has been a center of the art life of this City and area. While it is, truly, "The Art Gallery of the Wabash Valley" and constantly seeks to serve this whole area to an ever increasing extent the presence of the Gallery in Terre Haute has been an ever-present source of inspiration to the artists in this City especially. This Anniversary Year would seem, then, an appropriate time for an exhibit of work by living Terre Haute artists—former and present residents alike—whose talents and inspiration may in some way have been touched by the existence of the Gallery.

By intention works now in private and public collections have not been included in this exhibit with but a few exceptions. Nearly all of the paintings and other works of art in this exhibition are for sale. The Gallery thus seeks to assist the artist, through the sale of his work, to an ever greater accomplishment and creativity. No commission on works sold is taken by the Gallery.

For the cover picture we have chosen for several reasons to reproduce "Taxi Stand" (1941) by John Rogers Cox; the scene is a familiar one to all Terre Hauteans—the "Bomber Bar" at the corner, until its closing this fall, has long been a much-beloved local institution; and the artist, who was this Gallery's first Director, painted the scene as he saw it from one of the Gallery's windows.

The Sheldon Swope Art Gallery is proud to present this fine exhibition. Terre Haute may well take pride, too, in the very fine work its artists have done and are continuing to produce.
